John Newhouse and Ivey E. Clarke, depty fish commissioners, returned last night | ferred to the resolutions committee, with infrom Rush county, where they had an exbiting time trying to convict a man for sein-

Newhouse recently received an unsigned State Fish Commissioner Sweeney telling him there was a camp of several men at Deep Mock, on Flat Rock river, near Rushville, who were engaged in seining fish. Newhouse, in company with Clarke, went to the place last Saturday. As they neared the place where the camp was located they saw a woman running toward They followed and found five men in the river seining. One large seine was stretched out on the bank. The men, on the appearance of the two deputies, ran from the water and disappeared in a corn-One of them, Fred Clevenger, rewas charged with having a seine of unlawful size in his possession. The large seine found on the bank was taken to the mayor's office and placed in a room to be held as The case was called yesterday, and when the court went to the private room to get the seine it was missing. The jury then acquitted Clevenger, after being out about ten minutes. Newhouse and Clarke will continue their crusade against unlawful fish-ermen in that locality, they say.

TAILORS AND CUTTERS CLASH IN CONVENTION HALL.

Representatives of Both Crafts Leave the Meeting, Shaking Their Fists in Anger.

UNIONS AND THE BALLOT BOX

MORE TROUBLE CAUSED BY INTRO-DUCTION OF A RESOLUTION.

Many Think It Was a Scheme to Gain Support for Socialist Party-Day's Business.

sion of the United Garment Workers' convention at the Claypool Hotel. Time and again the cutters and the tailors clashed in loud and heated arguments, shook their fists at one another and said things they would not have said ordinarily. Many on both sides left the convention hall and held discussions in the lobby of the hotel. Some left the convention declaring that they would never be delegates again.

The causes of the exciting conflicts were the introduction of various resolutions by one side which infringed on the freedom of the other. The cutters and the tailors are so closely allied to one another, without a clear line of demarcation, that a spirit of rivalry exists between them. Any motion made by one that affects the other otherwise than beneficially is bitterly opposed. The resolution around which the storm raged was one suggesting that the merchants be prohibited from sending their given. Lawn Mowers and Garden Hose cloth outside the city to be cut. This the Secretary Klapetzy will leave in a few utters resented, as it would affect them materially. The reason given by the tailors cities was that it gives the cheaper cutters the most work, for merchants will always send it where they can get it cut cheapest. The strongest protest came from the delegates from Boston, who wanted a provision made that Boston tailors be prohibited from sending their cloth to New York, where the prices on cutting are much cheaper. As this would deprive the cutters of New York of a great deal of business, it was immediately opposed by the New York people, of which there is a majority. For a while it seemed that the two oppositions would clash, but the resolution was > tabled and the convention adjourned for UNIONS AND BALLOT BOX.

In the morning a resolution, committing the organization to a more or less political policy, caused no little excitement among the delegates. The resolution related to a political union of the laboring people for the purpose of securing control of the government by hawing the unions pay more | ticipated. attention to the ballot box. Although the word "socialism" was carefully kept out of the resolution, many thought that it was a scheme to gain support for the Socialist party. The resolution was tabled for the time being, and was brought up again at the afternoon session, at which it was restructions to revise it so that it would not conflict with the constitution. Another important event of the day was the resolution offered by John B. Lennon, secretary of the Journeymen Tailors of America, asking the United Garment Workers of America to appoint a committee to confer with a similar committee from the Journeymen Tailors with the view of amalgamating the two organizations. A great deal of the session was devoted to sidered the most important with which the convention has to deal. The attitude of the United Garment Workers towards the amalgamation is generally favored. present there is a great deal of opposition tion of jurisdiction. Many efforts have been made to draw a line between the two. but it has been impossible to come to an agreement. It is stated that sooner or later the two organizations will have to form an alliance or else-clash, in which case serious harm would be done to both the trade and the unions. WILL APPOINT COMMITTEE. Although the Garment Workers did not appoint a committee to meet the tailors, it was decided to make such an appointment on the last day of the convention. It was also decided to give the committee instructions to consummate the amalgmations if possible and thereby solve the most serious problem in the Garment Workers' Union, as well as increasing their strength by about 25,000. The committee will not begin Some Property Owners Think They its work until after the adjournment of the convention, and it may tending organizations. The meeting place

> A host of resolutions were offered yesterday from Chicago and all were relative to local grievances. There are about fifty local unions in Chicago and they are continually agitating local jurisdictions. From the resolutions yesterday it is probable that there will be a general revision of the mempership of the Chicago garment workers. From the present outlook the convention will not close to-morrow night. Secretary White said last night that he thought it would take another week to transact all the business on hand. The convention has been overwhelmed with resolutions from all quarters which have consumed unnecessary no resolutions will be considered except by a unanimous vote. ing Company attended the meeting of the Tailors' Mutual Aid Society of the United Garment Workers last night in Morrison's Hall to consider the propositon of unionizing the establishment of the Kahn Company, in which several previous attempts committee of the Mutual Aid, consisting of Robert Noren, W. A. Olivey, Charles V. of her body, however, and consequently did charge of the meeting, laid before the Kahn employes the advantages of organization and discussed plans by which the union can be formed. Most of the Kahn tailors favor organization and are anxious to bring it about, but they say they are liable to discharge if they participate in the movement. In the previous attempts to organize the leaders were discharged by the Kahn employers, and consequently the men now do not care to be too hasty.

Henry Kahn has been approached by one of the Mutual Aid committee, but he refuses to say what he will do if the union is formed in his store. It was stated last night by some members of the Mutual Aid that they intended to have the firm unionized by to-morrow night, but Charles Peterson, chairman of the committee, said that he could not verify the statement, although it was only a question of time before it would be carried out. In case Mr. Kahn opposes the movement by discharging the allors involved, his firm will be placed the unfair list by the Garment Workers of America. This will only be done as an ex-

The growth and increase in the number of unions since last year has been so great that it will take several days to complete the work of arranging the form of the parade. Each union is clamoring for certain places in the procession, and there are so many that their requests cannot very well be granted. It had been planned to form the parade in seven divisions, but the committee has decided to increase it to accommo date the large number of local unions. George Gordon said last night that there will be over six hundred men in line or Labor day, besides the delegation of two hundred that is expected from Shelbyville. YOUNG CAVALRYMAN PASSES AWAY IN SAN FRANCISCO.

His Home Was in This City, and the Body Will Be Shipped Here-Brilliant Record.

Word has been received from San Francisco of the death of Lieut. Ralph Miller, Troop I, Third Cavalry, of the regular establishment. He died in the Presidio hospital of hepatic abscess, a complication of liver troubles, and had been ill about three months. Miller was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Miller, No. 1906 Prospect street, and had two brothers, Otto and Percy, and one sister. Bessie, all of this city.

Mr. Miller wired immediately for the remains to be sent at once to Indianapolis. The circumstances of the death of his son are not known nor how long he had been in the hospital. The late lieutenant had been stationed in the Philippines, being the oldest soldier in point of service in the islands, and he was expected home shortly on leave. Lieut. Ralph Miller was one of the most promising young men in the regular army, and his death will end a career of rapid advancement and bright hopes for the future. He was twenty-nine years old and was born in New Ross, Ind., on Feb. 7, 1874, and removed to this city with his parents in 1883. He lived here ever since. He attended the public schools of this city and graduated from the Shortridge High School. After leaving school he worked for the Bowen-Merrill Company, and when the Spanish war broke out he was with the One-hundred-and-twenty-eighth Indiana as a sergeant in Company D. A GOOD SOLDIER.

His good services in the Spanish war and high praise received from his superiors, together with his love for the army, caused him to seek the service as an occupation, and he enlisted as a private in the regular army Jan. 1, 1900. The following March he was sent with Troop C, Third Cavalry, to from that time. In November, 1900, Lieutenant Miller having passed through the ranks of the noncommissioned officers by his quickness and all-round ability as a good soldier, was made a sergeant major. The following March he successfully passed the examination for second lieutenant and was given his commission by President McKinley July 1901. His career in the Philippines, where he was actively engaged in fighting, was as brilliant as his exceedingly rapid rise. He was stationed at Luzon, but when taken sick was at Lipa. As soon as his real condition was known he was removed to the reserve hospital at Manila. Lieutenant Miller was known among the young people of the city and was prominen as the drillmaster of the old Shortridge High school cadet company, which was organized by Lieut. Thomas Cathro, who was a fast friend of Lieutenant Miller, and who is now in the Philippines.

BRYAN GRINDS OUT COPY

SPENDS DAY IN CITY IN EDITORIAL WORK FOR THE COMMONER.

Calls Off His Visit to French Lick-His Reported Purchase of Team of Blooded Horses.

W. J. Bryan spent the greater part of yesterday in Indianapolis, resting, he said, but when he came down into the lobby of the Grand at 3:30 o'clock he had a bulky envelope addressed to the Commoner, which indicated that he had taken his recreation in grinding out "copy." John W. Kern was with him, as usual, and they exchanged a few jests with a group of reporters anent the recent arrival of a son in the Kern household.

"I have pledged myself to support Kern, jr., for the Democratic presidential nomination thirty-five years hence," said Mr.

"You will note that the colonel is very careful about the time," interposed Mr. Kern," and that he gives the boy just enough time to get within the age qualification."

"Perhaps he thought particularly of that because it was a question that interested him personally a few years ago," suggested a reporter, and Mr. Bryan laughed heartily.

In telling of his arrangements for the next few days Mr. Bryan announced that he had called off his engagement with T. Taggart for Sunday at French Lick and that the interesting "love feast," of which so much has been said, will be postponed indefinitely, so far as he is concerned. "I found that I would get into French Lick at 5 o'clock Sunday evening and would leave there at 5 the next morning," he said. "Such a visit would not be satisfactory, so plained the situation and told him I would have to postpone my visit." Mr. Bryan will be in Indianapolis again next Monday for a short time, and after
